

I am saddened that you are about to loosen the ownership requirements even more. What has been happening in radio is tragic. Everything is the same. While television is more diverse, in neither medium do we find any serious news gathering.

You could have allowed for more diversity in radio with low power licenses, but you mostly stomped out that possibility.